REPORT ON WORKSHOP – ROUTER CONFIGURATION WITH CISCO

Techkranti 5.0, the national-level techfest organized by the Department of Computer Science and Engineering, SNGCET, hosted a workshop on router configuration with Cisco on 23/11/2022. The workshop aimed to provide participants with hands-on experience and practical knowledge in configuring routers using Cisco technology.

The workshop commenced with an introduction to Cisco routers, highlighting their importance in networking and IT infrastructure. Participants were guided through the basics of router configuration, covering topics such as IP addressing, routing protocols, and security configurations.

The session also delved into advanced router configuration techniques, including access control lists (ACLs), virtual private networks (VPNs), and Quality of Service (QoS) settings. Participants gained insights into optimizing router performance and enhancing network security.

A significant part of the workshop included a hands-on practice session, where participants had the opportunity to configure routers using Cisco equipment under the guidance of the instructor. This practical experience allowed participants to apply the concepts learned and troubleshoot common networking issues. Many participants expressed appreciation for the practical skills gained and the relevance of the workshop in preparing them for networking roles and certifications.

The router configuration workshop with Cisco hosted by Techkranti 5.0 was a highly beneficial and practical learning experience for participants. The workshop's focus on hands-on practice, coupled with expert guidance, contributed to a comprehensive understanding of router configuration using Cisco technology. The event's success highlights the commitment of SNGCET's Department of Computer Science and Engineering to providing quality education and practical skills development in networking and IT domains.
